Indirect LED strips are a common feature in this project. In the hotel reception they delimit the space and on the staircase handrail they illuminate the steps.

The technical UNO luminaires with the HONEYCOMB fixture provide accent lighting and create a cosy atmosphere in the table area of the restaurant. These have been supplemented with indirect LED strips for general illumination of the room. of the space.

Indirect LED strips have been placed under the buffet, bathing the wall of the furniture and making it stand out. In addition, they have been installed inside the furniture and in a ceiling coving.

To delimit the terrace, the SOUN recessed luminaire was installed as perimeter lighting. This provides a sense of security, which is essential for outdoor use.

Lindos Aqua Terra

Charming hotel in Greece

Located in the heart of Vlichia beach, the project has aimed to design an elegant beachfront retreat with comfort and relaxation in mind, using natural materials and earthy colours to evoke tranquillity and naturalness.

In this project the common areas such as the terrace or the dining room have been designed to be open to the outside, that is why our JUST FAN fans, designed by Conillas, have been installed.

JUST FAN, ceiling fan with a very modern style, but thanks to its black/matt version it is perfectly integrated in the space.

JUST FAN is a good option to have a good air conditioning system all year round, since thanks to its inverse summer-winter function it can also be used in winter, improving the efficiency of the heating system.

A fan with modern lines, ideal for rooms and projects where, in addition to its functionality, it is intended to be a decorative element of the space.

Gracia Garden Hotel Botique

Faro Barcelona Lighting
in a boutique hotel in Gracia

Project carried out by Pia Capdevila for a small boutique boutique hotel in the centre of Gracia in Barcelona. The aim of the project was to convert the building into a very special space, with its own essence and soul.

The client wanted something different, to make the guest feel close and at the same time capture their attention. The starting point of the project was that they were faced with very basic spaces that did not dazzle at all.

The patio is presided over by a large plant mural and two large side trees, which help to distribute the space into four areas, each with its own furniture and details. It is also painted in an enveloping grey green, creating a space that allows you to forget that you are in the middle of the city.

For the lighting we have chosen our VERSUS outdoor table lamp in white, designed by Pepe Llaudet. In order to transform this table lamp into a floor lamp, the tall structure has been used, an ideal solution for decorating and lighting gardens and terraces.

Worked in different tones and textures. And well coordinated with the oak wood, providing a point of warmth to make it a close and cozy space.

SIX SENSES

Paraíso en Ibiza

From the heart of the Balearic Islands in the north of Ibiza, we find the Hotel SIX SENSES. A project designed to connect guests with the island, and to enjoy its culture, art, wellbeing and the spirituality that so defines the island.

Our LANTAU model has been used, a modern ceiling fan with a striking and striking style. In order to be able to air-condition the rooms in a more sustainable way.

Without a doubt, fans are an option that not only favour people's well-being, but also have a lower electricity consumption, as their energy needs are much lower.

Hotel Fuente Real

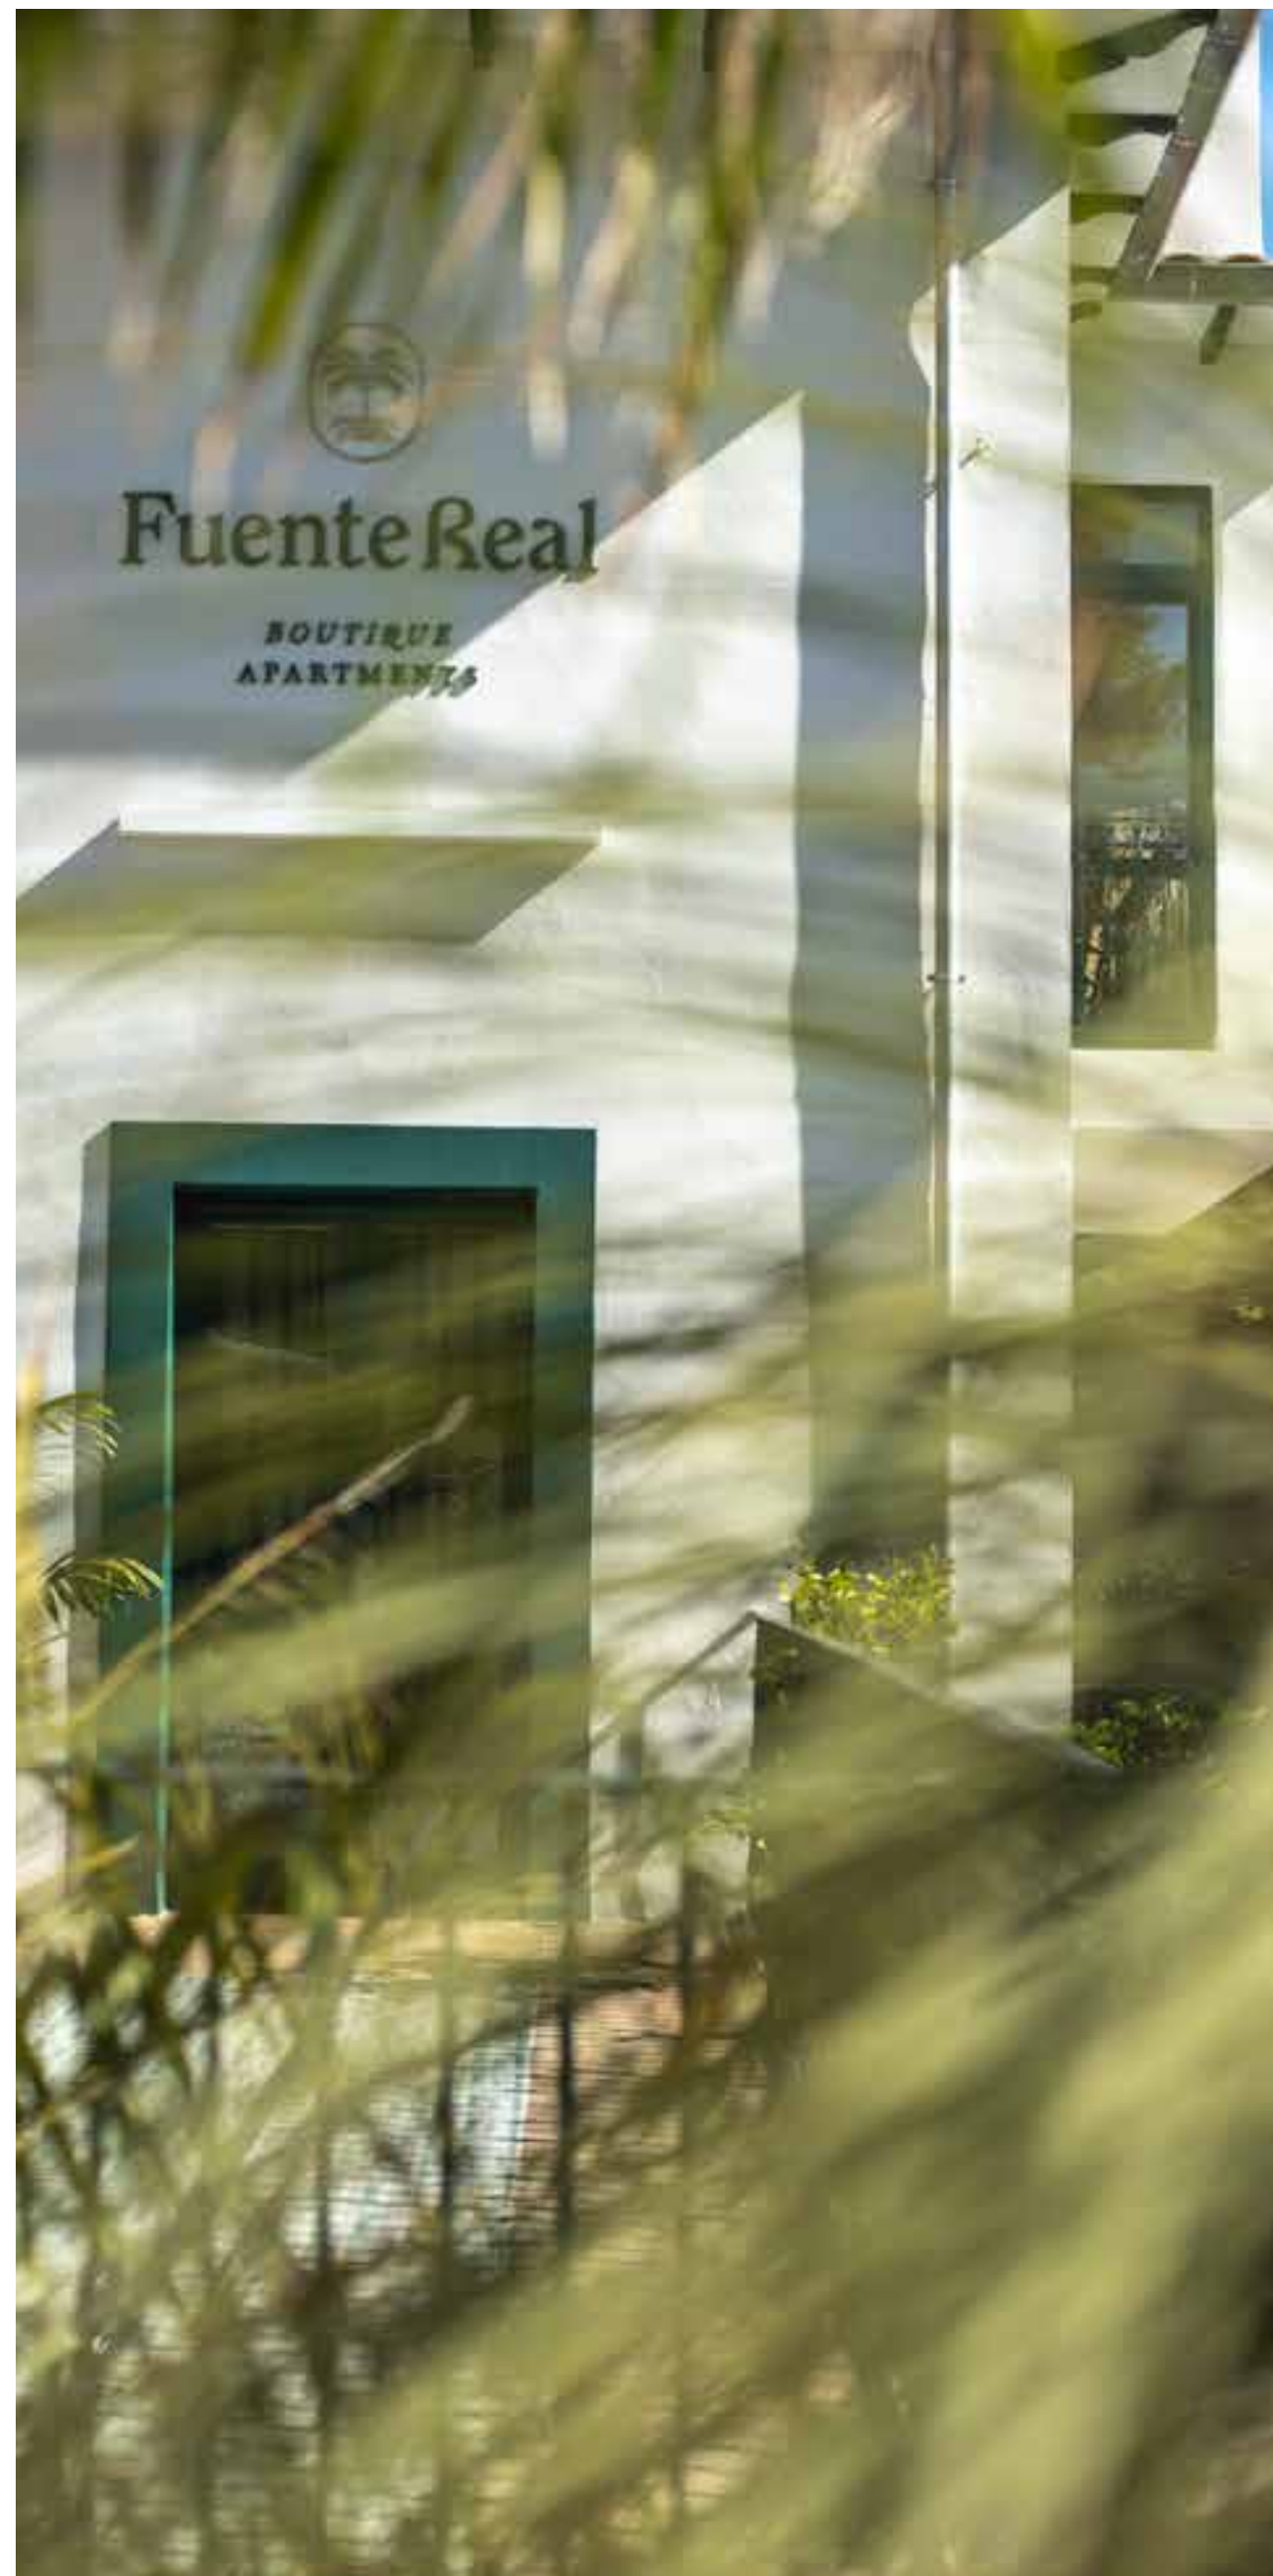

Lighting and interior design

Fuente Real was an old fishing village with an Indian past that wanted to be converted into a guest house maintaining its unique style but combined with a more modern touch, located in Cantabria.

Pardo Interior was inspired by the old Indian guesthouses mixed with the tropical exuberance of the transoceanic voyages that were made at that time. They managed to create a cosy, exotic and at the same time modern atmosphere.

Project: Hotel Fuente Real - Interior designer: Prado Interior - Photographer: Sergio Cuevas

In the bathrooms, they chose the SIDE ceiling light, a luminaire designed by Alex&Manel Llusçà, to give it the missing touch. Its solid and simple structure, in gold contrasts very well with the greenish with the combination of greenish and brownish and brown colours so present in the decoration of the house.

In the bedrooms, they chose the REM wall lamp by Alex&Manel Lluscà. The wall lamp has a minimalist base and, thanks to its reader, complements the function of ambient light with that of reading.

It was clear to Pardo Interior that Fuente Real had to have a unique essence. To do this, they needed to generate attraction and a sense of comfort from the outside.

They decided to add the NAHIR wall light. This is a classic style wall lamp made of brass, ideal for illuminating the space, making all its details stand out.
